

2005-2006 Lincoln Association for Traditional Arts Main Stage Schedule

Eliza Gilkyson—Friday, September 23, 2005

Eliza Gilkyson is a third generation musician, the daughter of successful songwriter Terry Gilkyson who had songs covered by Dean Martin and Johnny Cash. The Austin Chronicle says Eliza's songwriting "has a Dylanesque quality as her tunes burst with edgy lyrics and poetic imagination. With a knowing eye on the past, Eliza Gilkyson is making folk music for the 21st Century, and it's a delightful thing to hear."

Bluegrass Patriots—Friday, October 7, 2005

Dan Mitchell, Glenn Zankey, Danny Rogers, Ken Seaman, and Willie McDonald are celebrating 25 years and are one of the longest-running acts in bluegrass. The Bluegrass Patriots have been recognized as one of the top traditional bands. The Patriots are dedicated to bluegrass music. Not only are they where bluegrass has been, they on its cutting edge, and are helping to shape its future.

The Waybacks*—Friday, November 18, 2005

Eclectic in both their influences and approach, The Waybacks embrace multiple genres and put their unique stamp on the lot. From newgrass and western swing to jug band and jazz, from folk and fiddle music to improvisational excursions that defy categorization, Waybacks music is wild, energetic and unpredictable. With their stellar musicianship and sense of adventure, they stand at the forefront of New American acoustic music. The show will be held at Auld Pavilion in Antelope Park and dancing will be available and is encouraged. Bring your dancing shoes!

Jeff Black—Saturday, January 21, 2006

Jeff Black has been likened to rockers Neil Young and Bruce Springsteen and often compared to troubadour poets like Harry Chapin and Steve Goodman. His songs reside just outside the realm of pop music today. The Kansas City-born artist is a stylist in the true sense of the word, captivating audiences all over the world with his stories and inimitable delivery. Peter Lainson will open the show.

Neal and Leandra—Saturday, February 25, 2006

Neal Hagberg and Leandra Peak, a husband and wife duo from the Twin Cities, have a simplicity and their songs that is both disarming and elegant. Their warm harmonies and charming personalities have made them perennial LAFTA favorites. The Minneapolis StarTribune says "listening to Leandra Peak's distinctively husky and lustrous voice might be as heavenly as listening to angels".

Paddywhack Reunion —Saturday March 18, 2006

Extend your St. Patrick's Day celebration into the weekend because the boys of Paddywhack are reunited (and it feels so good!). Long-time friends and compatriots Dan Newton, Chris Sayre, Terry Keefe, and Dave Marsh will be back together again for a night of Celtic music and fun. They got together in the 1980's and the rumor is that this will be their last reunion. Order your tickets early!!

Cliff Eberhardt—Saturday, April 22, 2006

"If life were fair and stardom based on raw talent, Cliff Eberhardt would be a household name." Eberhardt is a songwriter and performer of remarkable passion and wit. Compatriots have long admired his work with artists like Richie Havens, Shawn Colvin, and Lucy Kaplansky, recording his songs. He is "one of the most original songsmiths currently on tour, a highly intelligent and articulate artist whose lyrics are sometimes overshadowed by his extraordinary guitar playing."

The Shaw Brothers—Saturday, May 6, 2006

Natives of Lincoln, John and Jason Shaw are a dynamic duo who bring bluegrass, jazz, acoustic, and old-time fiddle music together. Music has been their lifelong passion, they were studying music at age four and performing by six. The Shaws have thrilled audiences and won numerous awards on the violin, guitar, and mandolin, including the National Flat Pick Championships at the Walnut Valley Festival.

Shows start at 7:30 pm and are held at The Loft at the Mill (*the Waybacks will play at Auld Pavilion).
Tickets available online and at the door ($13 member/$17 non-member/$10 student). Call 402-580-8656 .
